TUBERCULOSIS SANITARIUM ESTABLISHED IN MANY STATES

Legislation dealing with tuberculosis has been enacted in 48 States and territories of the United States, according to a comprehensive bulletin on this subject soon to be published by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. Only in the states of Arizona, Idaho, Nevada, Wyoming and Alaska has the subject been given no legislative consideration

State tuberculosis sanatoria to the number of 42 have been established in 12 different states Special laws providing for the establishment of local hospitals by municipalities or counties have been passed in 14 states In 34 states, laws are in force providing for the reporting and registration of living cases of tuberculosis In four states New York, New Jersey, Wisconsin and Minnesota special laws have been enacted giving state and local health authorities power to remove and detain tuberculosis persons who menace the health of their families or associates Six states, Illinois Iowa Missouri, Minnesota, New York and Texas, have laws which give the people the privilege of voting at general or special elections on the establishment of county or municipal tuberculosis hospitals Massachusetts Minnesota, New Jersey, Wisconsin and Washington grant subsidies ranging from $3 00 to $5 00 per week to such local hospitals Laws prohibiting spitting in public places have been enacted in more than 20 states

Commenting on the problem of state legislation as it affects the prevention of tuberculosis, the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis says, A law providing for the reporting and registration of every living case of tuberculosis is fundamental to any thoroughgoing campaign against this disease Without a knowledge of the location of every case of tuberculosis, the disease cannot be controlled Of equal importance also is legislation which will give cities, towns, and counties the authority to establish and maintain local hospitals for tuberculosis cases The control of tuberculosis should be done to provide institutions easy of access, especially for advanced cases."

FOR ME AND MINE.

It were hard to imagine a more solemn and bitter rebuke to pious selfishness than is embodied in the following stanzas taken from F. P. A column in the New York Tribune. They were written by Kathleen Norris and entitled:

The Mother's Prayer.

Lord, if some little children of our day
Must spend their lives beside our factory wheels,
Watching the endless hours drag away,
Must learn how heartache feels, how hunger feels,
If they must toss and mutter in their sleep,
Too tired to rest, when fevered rest might be,
I dare not, Lord, I only ask to keep mine safe with me!

Lord, if the street's unwholesome noise and mirth
When the day's poor-paid drudgery is done
Must draw the wearied little maids of earth
Into a hell that awaits them, one by one
If scarred and starved, life fall's leaves helpless blown,
These must be the shame of living still endure,
I shall not murmur, lord, but keep mine own
Guarded and pure!

And, Lord, if there be many who complain
In bitter poverty and toil and tears
Who know their loved ones hungry of the year,
And faint beneath the burden of the year,
Keep Thou mine eyes from sight of such as these,
Keep Thou my mind from knowing this must be,
And gracious Lord, still grant Thou wealth and ease
To mine and me!

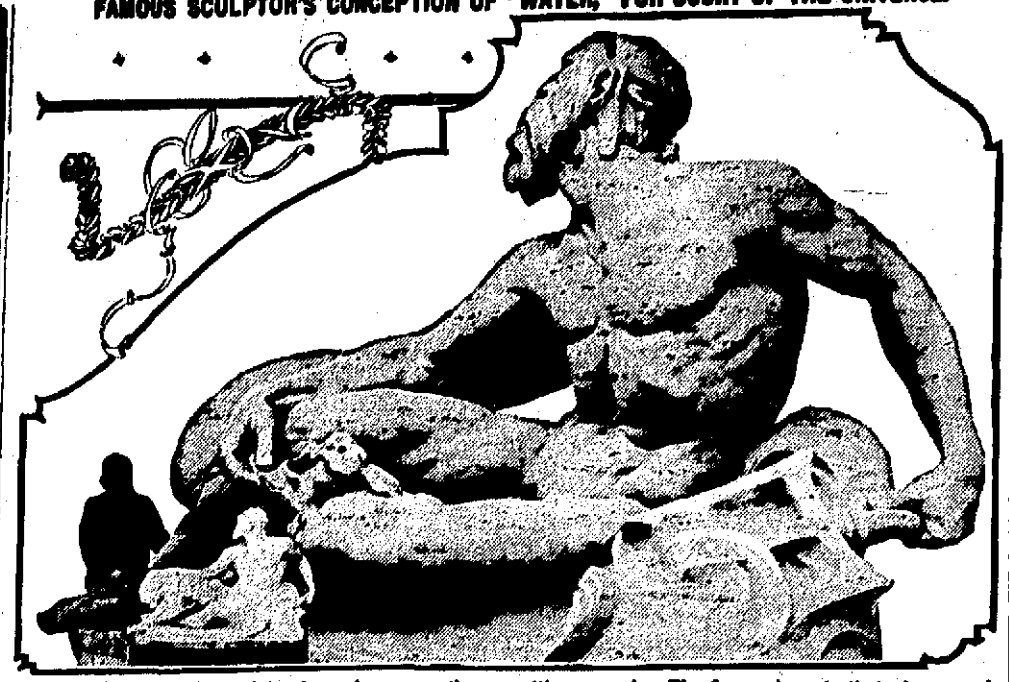
FAMOUS SCULPTOR'S CONCEPTION OF "WATER," FOR COURT OF THE UNIVERSE.



Scene in one of the sculptural warehouses on the exposition grounds. The figure above is that of a remarkable sculptural composition by Robert I. Aitkin, one of the most brilliant of American sculptors. The figure, representing the sculptor's conception of "Water," is a companion piece to three other symbolical sculptures—"Fire," "Earth" and "Air." The four figures, typifying the elements, will flank the descents into a vast sunken garden in the superb court of honor, the Court of the Universe. On the left may be seen the original model from which the figure was enlarged.

HUMAN NATURE.

By Walt Mason.

"Sam Jigsmith was in here a little while ago," remarked the druggist. "He had an old lop-eared dog with him, and said it was the best hunting dog in the United States. Anybody could see the dog wasn't worth 3 cents, yet Sam brag ged it up for fifteen minutes, until I felt like sending for the police."

"That's a fine characteristic of Sam's," observed the village patriarch. "Everything he owns is the best of its kind. A while ago I hired him to come over and plow up my garden, and he arrived with the worst looking horse I ever witnessed. It surely was born before the Civil War, and its bones stuck out in every direction. It was blind in one eye and had the heaves. It was such a fierce-looking proposition that I stood there staring at it for a while, as one stares at the sacred white elephant when the circus comes to town, and Sam seemed quite pleased.

"'I see you're admiring my horse,' said he. 'Well, it's a genuine pleasure to encounter a man who knows a good horse when he sees one. You don't often see as good a horse this side of the blue grass region of Kentucky,' says he. 'This horse is a lineal descendant of Bucephalus, and Maud S. was his aunt by marriage and Goldsmith Maid was his mother-in-law. He can trot a mile faster than a streak of chain lightning, and then pace a mile a little bit faster. I wouldn't take a thousand dollars for that horse.'

"He was going to tell me a lot more about it, but just then the animal fell over and had a fit, and we had to call in several neighbors to help hoist him to his feet again. Sam said it was an attack of apoplexy from over-feeding, and he'd have to let the steed rest an hour or so before going ahead with the work. While we sat there talking, a friend of mine came up with his new touring car, and asked me to step out and see it. Sam went along, and we examined the machine. It surely was a humdinger, with all the modern conveniences you can imagine, and the owner was so swelled up with pride that his hat was three sizes too small for him.

"When the car moved away I asked Sam if he didn't wish he could afford such a machine, and he just snorted with disgust. 'I wouldn't trade my horse and buggy for a dozen autos!' he cried.

"Such a disposition as his is a greater possession than anything on earth. He never envies anybody. He is perfectly satisfied with whatever he has. I was talking with him one day when along came old Pinkman, who had just sold out his interests in the Steenth National Bank. When he cut loose from that institution the directors held a meeting and presented him with a gold watch that cost five pounds. It was the biggest and most obtrusive gold watch that ever came into the town. It had diamonds and such things sprinkled over the case. Plunkman was mighty proud of it, and he pulled it out of his pocket every two minutes to see what time it was.

"For six weeks or so after he got that watch, he kept the closest tab on the time of any man in town. He seemed worried to death lest a minute got away without being spotted. Well, he came steaming along when Sam and I were talking about the Mexican situation by my front gate, and he paused to exchange the top of the morning with me, and he hadn't been there a minute before he dragged the watch from its dread abode and began explaining its wonders to me. It was a stop watch, and it was full jeweled, and it struck the hours, and had electric lights and ball bearings and I don't know what else. 'There never was a better watch,' said he, as he pushed it back into his vest pocket.

"That's where you're off your base,' exclaimed Sam, and he reached into his pocket and dragged out an old turnip with a brass case and works of galvanized iron. 'I bet the blamed thing didn't cost more than 50 cents when it was new. But Sam fairly gloated over it. 'I wouldn't give this for a dozen of your ginger-bread watches,' said he. 'I've carried this old trusty for ten years, and it never gained or lost a second, and all the jewelers in town set their regulators by it.'

"I'd rather have Sam's disposition than be appointed postmaster."

SOUTHERN CATTLE.

emphis News-Scimitar.

The Department of Agriculture at ashington has issued its year ok, which is still filled with in- esting facts and figures and ch splendid advice. In discuss- the beef supply, the department ds that the South can produce re cattle and produce it more ply than any other section of whole country, because the long ure seasons, together with inex- ive shelter during the short ter months. It is pointed out during slavery the South had tle, hogs and sheep on every tation, and some of these were beef animals, containing an shorthorn blood. In those days the South supplied herself with meat. At the close of the war there were but few cattle left, and these were bred among themselves without the addition of any new blood, which resulted in a class of native cattle that was small, slow of growth and of very low quality of beef. Southern farmers were discouraged about bringing in high-grade animals from the North, because 85 per cent of them died the first year from disease which was then not understood. With free labor and the introduction of the cotton gin, and price of cotton ruled high, and as this was about the only crop that would bring any ready money, and upon which the farmers could get advances of rations, feedstuffs and clothing, they turned their attention to cotton raising under the crop mortgage plan. This forced the South into a one-crop system, and it was not unusual to see cotton planted on the same land thirty years in succession. This, of course, depleted the soil and its reclamation can be had by stock raising as well as by diversification. There is so much land in the South that is not used for agricultural purposes that cattle raising may be carried on with great ease and profit. The introduction of cover crops and other nourishing grasses has progressed rapidly which has enriched the soil, and at the same time furnished food for stock. As wealth comes to the Southern planter he takes advantage of all new ideas, and at present is building silos, which insure not only an easy way of harvesting his forage crops, but it gives him what amounts to an abundant green pasturage the year through, upon which his stock may grow and fatten. The ailments which afflicted Southern cattle in the past are coming more and more under the control of science. The South for years to come is destined to occupy an important position in the meat supply of the country. Wise and enterprising land owners who have more acres than they till are taking advantage of conditions and are making money by cattle and stock raising.

SPORTING NEWS

By Frank G. Menke.

New York, July 16.—The Feds seem to have uncovered a sue enough "second Ty Cobb" in the person of Benny Kauff, of the Indianapolis team. Kauff has been clubbing them out all season around the .400 mark, has been running bases with the daring and dash of the wonderful Georgian, can cover a marvelous amount of territory in the outfield and has an unerring arm.

Kauff so far hasn't shown any batting weakness. He hits everything that comes his way, and it matters not whether the shoots that are thrown up to him are from the arms of Tom Seaton, Russell Ford, Otis Crandall or some of the recruit pitchers in the new league. Most of Kauff's hits have the same whistling force that made Wagner and Lajoie famous as sluggers, but he also is a wonderful man at laying down bunts and beating them out.

If Kauff, in his present form had been uncovered in the American or National League this year, his face would be peering forth from the sporting pages almost daily. But the Indianapolis star has the misfortune of being in a new league this year and his deeds are not being very widely heralded. But before another year rolls round, those who have seen Kauff in most of his games, declare that even the most biased organized critic will have to admit that Kauff takes ranking with Cobb, Jackson and Speaker.

Kauff, by the way, was a member of the New York Yankees for a brief period of 1911. Even then he showed wonderful ability as a batter, but he lacked field experience, and Hal Chase, then manager of the club, turned him loose because he felt that he did not have time to develop him. The Yankees at that time were well fortified with fielders.

Kauff went to the New London team in the Eastern Association, and set it afire with his terrific hitting. He took part in 135 games, finishing the season with 176 hits for an average of .343. Many of those hits were for extra bases.

When the Feds were looking around for players early last winter one of their scouts was tipped off to Kauff and the demon slugger affixed his name to a contract.

Down in Hot Springs, Va., the native still tell, with abated breath of the terrific drive made by Honus Wagner of the Pirates, when he mixed up in a golfing game there during a recent visit.

Honus, so the story goes, had been coaxed out onto the links and was showed the intricacies of the game. Honus went the rounds once or twice, but because he was handicapped by the advice of the expert golfers, he never was able to get a full swing at the ball. However, after the game was over, Honus remarked that he thought he could get more distance with drive if allowed to follow his own ideas.

"That's a mistake," said one of the golfers. "In baseball, the harder you hit the ball the farther it goes. But it's different in golf. It isn't strength that counts in the golfing game."

"Mebbe not, mebbe not," remarked Honus. But I kinda think I could shoot that little ball pretty far if I got a good swing on it."

The argument carried over into the next day and it finally was decided to let Honus try at hitting the ball after his own ideas. So when the golfers got on a little hillside that overlooked the valley, Honus approached the tee for the experimental shot.

Honus teed up to his ball with considerable sand underneath, stepped back a foot or two, grasped the club firmly in his huge paws and then made a mighty swing. The wood crashed full and fair against the ball, and away it shot like a rifle bullet. It cleared not only the valley, but the town on the other side of it, and when last seen the ball was sailing upwards in the general direction of the sun.

"I kinda thought I could do it," was honus' only remark as he made his record drive.

The fans in Chicago who have remained loyal to the Cubs are now bemoaning the fact that Tinker and Evers are no longer in their midst. They feel that with these two stars back in the Cub infield the Cubs would have a mighty bright chance for the pennant.

Tinker's position at the short-stopping job never has been filled satisfactorily. It always has remained the weak spot in the inner breastworks. Bill Sweeny who is playing at second in place of Johnny Evers is doing some good work, but he is no Evers either in hitting fielding or thinking.

About Democratic Leaders

Washington Correspondence in the New York Herald.

Friends of Speaker Champ Clark and Representative Oscar W. Underwood, democratic leader of the House and senator-elect from Alabama, are now so firmly convinced, it was ascertained recently, that President Wilson will not be a candidate for renomination in 1916 that henceforth they intend to keep their respective favorites in constant training for the next democratic presidential nomination

Mr. Clark and Mr Underwood will be heard frequently in public addresses. Mr Clark of late has been making more public addresses than he has been accustomed to make for a long time He has even broken his own rule of never absenting himself while Congress is in session.

Mr Underwood's Fourth of July address in Brooklyn was held to be especially significant Its purpose, as politicians here viewed it, was not so much to revive the controversy over the Panama canal toll exemption repeal measure as to emphasize to the New York City democracy, already dissatisfied with some of Mr. Wilson's policies, that here is a forceful, commanding personality that has not been blotted out by the shadow of Wilson domination of the democratic party.

It was also argued that if Mr Underwood were a candidate, he must inevitably be the conservative candidate. In such a case it would be absolutely necessary for him to have the support of New York

The hopefulness of the friends of Mr. Clark and Mr. Underwood that the way may be opened to one of them to obtain the 1916 nomination is accounted for in the main by two reasons—the likelihood that Mr Wilson will voluntarily retire from the presidency at the end of four years and the strong possibility that Theodore Roosevelt will be such a disturbing factor to the republicans in 1916 that a democratic victory will again be assured

Earlier in the year democrats generally conceded that if the 1916 nominations were worth anything, Mr. Wilson could have it for the asking, and they assumed, of course, that he would desire it But now there seems to be a feeling that something will happen to make Mr. Wilson unavailable as a candidate in 1916.

They believe that if the President pursues the policy all through his administration of sticking at his desk so constantly he will impair both his health and his political prospects This is the second summer that Mr. Wilson has insisted on laboring hard in the almost tropical climate of Washington.

Many democrats are saying that the President is making a political mistake by keeping Congress in session all summer. They declare that while it is undoubtedly popular to "keep congress at work," it is almost certain that the President's action will be a menace to democratic success in November, and that if the democrats lose control of the house this fall the President's prestige will suffer a severe injury.

Another factor that enthuses the friends of Messrs Clark and Underwood is the belief that for the first time in a decade a democratic national convention will be convened with William J. Bryan eliminated from the running as a candidate.

THURSDAY—

The Woman's Missionary Conference of the Dothan District will be in session here today and tomorrow.

MRS. MARVIN LEWIS HOSTESS—

The front porch of the beautiful home of Mrs. Marvin Lewis on W. Main street was effectively arranged on yesterday afternoon when she was the charming hostess to the Elwell Auction Club. A profusion of graceful ferns, palms, and many pots of field flowers made a most inviting rendezvous for these interested players. The games were thoroughly enjoyed, and resulted in the club prize, silk hose, falling to Mrs. Edward Cannady, while Mrs. Chas. Golson was the fortunate winner of the guest prize, a jeweled comb.

Mrs. Lewis, assisted by Mrs. Chas. Golson, served a delicious sandwich course with ginger ale and fruit.

Those present were Mrs. Ernest Bussey, Mrs. Cleveland Brinkley, Mrs. W. C. Fritter, Mrs. Joe Bennett, Miss Alice Watford, Mrs. Ray Jones, Mrs. Charles Golson and Mrs. Edward Cannady.

D. B. V. S. CLUB MEETS—

Miss Irene Lisenby was the attractive little hostess to the D. B. V. S. club yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock.

The spacious front porch was beautifully arranged, ferns, palms, and many vases of field daisies forming an effective decoration. Four tables were placed here for the club game—Rook. Salted peanuts were placed on each table which were enjoyed during the games. At the conclusion of the games, the hostess assisted by little Misses Cleis Lisenby and Mildred Hill served a delicious salad course with iced tea.

The fortunate guests included: Misses Grace Bonham, Annie Ross, Julia Tatum, Christine Reid, Nell Reid, Mary Jeter, Lennie Strickland, Mary Jim Young, Lucile Sharp, Robbie Harrison of Enterprise, Lillie Mae Jones, Agnes Moore of Bainbridge, Ga., Willie Stough, and Dewey Hornsby.

SAXON-HARRIS.—

Opelika News.

Quite a pretty wedding was solemnized at noon today when Miss Emma Neal Harris, youngest daughter of Mrs. Winnie Harris, and Mr. John Heard Saxon of Dothan, Ala., were married at the First Methodist church in the presence of their relatives and friends, Rev. H. H. McNeill of Dothan, officiating, assisted by Rev. E. C. Moore.

A simple, yet artistic arrangement of handsome palms and ferns was quite effective, the rich green harmonizing prettily with the exquisite coloring of the church.

Preceding the entrance of the bridal party, Mrs. C. C. Caldwell of Eufaula, accompanied by Mr. Jule Green on the violin, sweetly sang, "Barcarole," from the Tales of Hoffman.

To the inspiring strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, rendered by Mrs. N. B. Jones, the ushers, Messrs. Warren and Bullard Harris, brothers of the bride, and Messrs. Harry Lowe and Dan Bullard came up the isles, followed by the ring bearer, John Fuller, nephew of the bride, who was an attractive little figure in white. The bride entered with her sister, Miss Mary Winnie Harris, who was maid of honor, and met the groom and his best man, Mr. Harry Dieque, of Dothan, at the altar, and during the impressive ring ceremony the organist softly played "Hearts and Flowers.

The bride wore a becoming tailored suit of tan corded silk with hat and gloves to match and blouse of exquisite lavender chiffon. She carried orchids and lillies of the valley and the maid of honor was attired in white organdie with pink trimmings and pink hat and carried pink roses and ferns.

Mr. and Mrs. Saxon left on the 4:15 train for Montgomery and from there to Savannah to sail for New York. After two weeks they will be at home to their friends in Dothan, where the groom is in the jewelry business.

AN ENJOYABLE DANCE—

A number of young men of the city entertained at an enjoyable dance last evening in honor of the home and visiting young ladies. Quite a crowd was present and reported a most pleasant evening.

Harry Dieque arrived in the city yesterday from Dothan. Mr. Dieque was best man at the Harris-Saxon nuptials today.—Opelika News.

Dr. H. H. McNeill of Dothan, former pastor of First church here, who was here to officiate at the Harris-Saxon nuptials, will remain over until tomorrow and will conduct prayer meeting at the First church tonight at 8 o'clock.—Opelika News.

Miss Robbie Carlisle left this afternoon for Montgomery for a short visit. She will be joined in Montgomery by Miss Elizabeth Brooks and accompany her home in Huntsville, for several weeks visit.

Misses Nell Green and Annie Ward leave in the morning for Ft. Gaines Ga., to attend a house party given by Miss Susie McAllister.

Miss Ruth Stapleton has returned from a visit to Miss Louise Liddon in Marianna.

Misses Maurine Peacock, Norma Dowling, Clem Warren, and Willie Linten, accompanied by Mrs. J. L. Warren and Mr. Will Warren, motored over from Enterprise yesterday and spent the day shopping. Miss Linten is the sister of Mrs. Shelly Strickland of this city.

Emile McKenzie has returned from a three weeks visit in Albany, Ga.

Mrs. J. Rosenberg and family of Albany, Ga., were the guests of Mrs. E. Crine today enroute to Troy for a visit.

Mrs. L. J. Crine and daughter, Miss Amelia Crine, of Albany, Ga., are visiting Mrs. E. Crine on South Foster street.

Mr. Jake Levine of Birmingham, is the guest of his brother, Meyer Levine.

Miss Minna Crine, will leave in a few days for an extended visit to relatives in Boston, Mass.

Miss Estelle Green leaves tomorrow for Columbia to visit Miss Virginia Atkinson.

Love is not getting, but giving; not a wild dream of pleasure, and a madness of desire—oh, no; love is not that—it is goodness and honor, and peace and pure living—yes, love is that—that is the best thing in the world, and the thing that lives the longest.—Henry Van Dyke.

Fill all the world with peaceful love
and sin will fly away,
Ashamed to stay within the light
Of joyous, love-lit day;
Our deeds of evil will not grow
In paths that love will light,
Where thoughts are black as night.

No need to fight your way through life,
Just love the world a bit,
And you will see reflected, then,
A kindly light in it.
For love its own salvation works,
If we will give it sway,
'Twill usher into our blest souls
A peaceful, joyous day.

How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Kept Her in Health for 14 Years.

Shippensburg, Pa.—"It was several years ago that I started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I then suffered terribly every month. My husband bought me a bottle of it and it helped me right away. Then after my second child was born I had a female trouble very badly and I used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and in a short time was cured and have been in excellent health since. I always praise the Compound whenever I have an opportunity as I know it helped me and will help others. Lately I have given the Compound to my daughter and I wish all suffering women would take it and be convinced of its worth."—Mrs. JAMES A. BEIDEL, 113 N. Penn Street, Shippensburg, Pa.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ills we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., seem to prove this fact.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

This Thursday special will be devoted entirely to two propositions in farm lands. Either is an unusual opportunity for some one to make some money. Why not YOU.

Buy it to keep, or to sell again this fall.

We will be glad to list to sell again at $35.00 per acre.

SCHEDULE NO. 2.

270 acres five miles from Headland. This land has no improvements and is run down. Part cleared and balance in creek swamp. Not cultivated in long time. Big running creek. The place could easily be built up however and could be made into a fine hog farm.

TO THE CITIZENS OF DOTHAN: Will the citizens of Dothan see the set of young band boys fail in their attempt to do something for the uplift of the city? Would there be anything enjoyed more here in Dothan than a good band to keep the children away from these disease breeding shows that come in here so often? Would the lonesome revers like to have a band to play every Sunday afternoon? If so, why not all the citizens join in and help to get a good band?

How high is high noon?

What has become of the word plutocrat?

Hog and cattle raising is the best boll weevil antidote known.

After they are sure they are right lots of folks don't go ahead.

The boll weevil is going to be the Houston county farmer's rainy day.

Does the Governor think he can muzzle the press by having his boy swat a reporter on the muzzle?

"Truth is mighty and will prevail," but if it is published about the "leading citizen" the editor is not likely to prevail.

This weather is so delightful we want to take back all the hard things that were said about the June brand.

It does not take much to give some folks pleasure. For instance Villa said he wanted to have the pleasure of executing Huerta.

There are many automobile agencies with wheelbarrow incomes in Dothan, but most of them seem to get by with it.

One of the Eagle's carrier boys is named Money. The other boys call him Spot Cash. He is as good in his line as spot cash is in its.

Atlanta realized that money talks and to get the great Methodist university she came across with more than three millions of the charming conversational stuff.

The Dothan District Conference meets in Dothan next week and yet nobody has thought to resurrect the bewhiskered joke about the Methodist preacher's love for chicken.

The fact that Bud Bragg Comer subscribed $5,000 to have the Methodist University located at Birmingham must be more than the Advertiser and Birmingham News can bear.

DOESN'T KNOW HOW TO CUT A MELON.

Secretary Bryan knows how to steer the ship of state all right, but he don't know a thing about cutting a watermelon.

A Florida friend sent the Secretary of State an enormous watermelon the other day and he invited his friends to a watermelon party, Mr. Bryan carving the melon h'mself.

Some of the papers have had pictures of Mr. Bryan and the melon after he had carved it. And seeing the way he "carve dat watermillion" shows as any he does not know a thing about how it should be done.

Instead of taking a short blade pocket knife and ripping 'er open from stem to stern so as most of the heart will be on one side, he cuts it around in thin slices something after the manner in which a housewife cuts cucumbers.

If the Secretary were to come to Alabama and give a watermelon party and acting as host cut the melons in such a way as he did that one sent him by the Florida friend, we fear there might be a display of bad manners and the Secretary get laughed at.

If any of Mr. Bryan's Alabama friends sends him one of Alabama's matchless melons it should be accompanied by instructions how to cut.

PAYS TO BE CIVIL.

According to the State Bureau of Vital Statistics Breathitt county shows a lower death rate than any other county in Kentucky.

Probably there will be some who insist that very few persons are permitted to die a natural death in Breathitt county, but the figures of the bureau of statistics cover not only the deaths from natural causes, but also the deaths from "violence and kindred casualties." Nobody would have selected Breathitt, perhaps, as the most healthful county in the state. Certainly it was not so regarded in the fued days when Jackson was known as "the city of sudden death."

Breathitt county use to be a good place to die—for such as preferred a hasty exit from time to eternity. Scores of sturdy citizens of that co. who might have attained long life if they had had a fair chance, were cut off in their prime for no better reason, perhaps, than that their grandfathers were so impolite as to start something in the way of a scrap and pass it on down to succeeding generations. But Breathitt county has emerged from the fuedal age and strange as it may seem, has become a good place to live. This is one of the achievements of peace and progress.

Kentucky no longer can point to Breathitt as a horrible example of what a county ought not to be. For lo, in matters of sanitation Breathitt's name is leading all the rest? Can any one doubt that it pays to be civil and civilized, or that it is better to sanitate than to "salivate" —Courier-Journal.

EGGARDISM OF GUILT.

In Chicago it seems to be the opinion of most juries that a woman who kills her husband is justified in doing so. That is, it is almost impossible to secure the conviction of a murderess, however strong the evidence may be, and this seems to emphasize the opinion that men who serve on juries in Chicago think there is one law for the man and another for the woman.

Just at present, two women charged with murder stand prominently before the public. Mrs. Carman, in Freeport, N. Y., and Mrs. Angel, in Stamford, Conn., are both held under suspicion.

Records show that of late women have been as active in the murder business as men. One cause for this is the disinclination on the part of men to punish women, whatever crime they have committed.

The law does not distinguish between man and woman. When a murder is committed the law is violated. It makes no difference who commits the crime; if guilt is proven, they should be made to suffer.

In these days, when crime is running rampant the disposition should be to aid in upholding the law rather than to place obstructions in the way of its enforcement.

The case of Mrs. Wakefield in Connecticut is one that arouses more than ordinary sympathy, in which the question of her guilt does not figure. An organization of women has been formed to save her from the gallows, and those who are working to this end do not care an iota as to the merits of the case.

The murder was the most revolting committed in recent years. The proof was so strong that the jury reluctantly returned a verdict of murder in the first degree. Mrs. Wakefield did not deny her guilt. The murder was inexcusable. No mitigating circumstances could be introduced to lighten the sentence. The jury did its duty. The judge sentenced Mrs. Wakefield to death.

In this day when women are clamoring for equal rights, then they demand to be placed on an equal footing with man, they should be a little diffident about seeking the pardon of a woman who committed a crime which would cause the immediate execution of a man had he have done the same thing.

The sentence of the law should be carried out. Justice should not be influenced by sex.—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

CUBA WAKING UP.

Hartford (Conn.) Courant.

Cuba is waking up to the need of encouraging the tourist trade. Since our first occupancy of the island Cuba has been visited by hundreds of thousands of tourists from this country. Through it all that country has appeared to be indifferent, if not even hostile. Now a group of capitalists in Havana, realizing the folly of such an attitude, are considering ways to check the ebbing tide of visitors. They propose to make Havana a more attractive playground with a "Magic City" along the Malecon Drive, overlooking the Gulf of Mexico. Cuba's winter climate is beyond cavil or criticism, particularly along the northern coast. It could be made the most attractive resort within easy reach of Americans, but the Cubans themselves need to be shaken out of their narrowness and lethargy.

In spite of the great flood of travel to the island from this country to the island try, but few Cubans have taken the trouble to learn enough English to do business with tourists without the services of an interpreter. Most of them appear to think it beneath their dignity to do so. It is an astonishing condition, but every visitor to Cuba has noticed it. If the Cubans wake up to their opportunity and to the potentiny attractiveness of their island as a winter resort, they can easily make the tide of tourist travel a rising instead of an ebbing one. It is proposed says the Havana Post, to invest $1,000,000 in the new enterprise, which is expected to prolong the visitor's stay by providing something to keep him interested. That is all very well, but what is needed is a radical change in the mental attitude of the Cubans towards all American tourists. They must develop a more friendly spirit.

The above figures represent the actual net income from 10 acres in grapefruit for the past eight years grown on the lower Florida East Coast, 250 miles south of Jacksonville, Florida

The Minnala Farms Company, to be incorporated, with R. D. Blackshear, Dothan, Ala., as President, W. J. Blackshear as Vice President, and L. G. Biggers as Secretary and Manager, has purchased from the State of Florida school section No. 16, Township 45, Range 42 E., located in Palm Beach County, Florida, six miles west of Boynton, a town on the Florida East Coast R. R. 13 miles south of Jacksonville. This section contains 648 acres and has been subdivided into 128 tracts of approximately 5-acres each, each tract fronting a public road 30 feet wide. The company will clear these roads and cut main drainage ditches on each side for the use of the owners of the adjacent tracts.

LOCATION OF LAND

This section of land is on a pine hammock ridge with an elevation of 18.5 feet average above the sea level and lies between the true Everglades on the west and a fresh water lake depression on the east. The land is approached by a rock road from Boynton, Florida, and the Boynton Canal, one of a series of drainage canals which has been and is being built by the Palm Beach Farms Co., at a cost of $375,000.00. In addition to this the State of Florida and United States Government are spending in Palm Beach County and in the country around our lands approximately $5,000,000.00, protecting for all time our land from the annual overflow of Lake Okeechobee. Two miles west of our land is the range line canal running from The Lake Worth to Okeechobee Canal on the north to the Hllsboro Canal 25 miles south, the canal running north and south. One-fourth mile south of our land is the Boynton Canal running from the Range Line Canal to the Atlantic coast line, being nine miles long, 50 feet wide and 9 feet deep. This canal will serve for navigation, drainage and irrigation, making agriculture absolutely safe so far as rain or drought is concerned, and furnishing the cheapest transportation to the shipping point, Boynton.

NINE THOUSAND PEOPLE HAVE BOUGHT.

During the past eighteen months, or since the developments began, more than 9,000 people from all parts of the United States have bought 5,10 and 20 acre tracts within a territory 12 miles north, 15 miles south, 3 miles west and 4 miles east of our lands, and numbers of these people are building homes on their lands and putting it in cultivation. They have paid from $60.00 to $150.00 per acre for the raw lands. There is no land for sale on the ridge above described except the 40 5-acre tracts which this company is offering.

CLIMATE.

According to the United States Weather Bureau crops on these are less liable to damage by frost than any other lands in the United States. This is due to three conditions; the latitude which is below the 27th parallel, 313 miles south of Jacksonville; second, the existence of Lake Okeechobee, a body of fresh water 30 by 60 miles in area situated 33 miles northwest, and the Gulf stream, which is only two miles off the shore in the Atlantic eight miles east of our lands, and has a constant temperature of 72 degrees Fahr. The two last conditions so far as the frost line is concerned, puts our land 150 miles further south than Fort Myers, due west of our lands on the west coast. The summer temperature seldom goes above 90 degrees, the trade winds from the ocean blowing constantly; the average annual rain fall is from 56 to 60 inches, distributed throughout the year. The water plate, meaning the elevation of the water in the land, ranges from two to 3 1-2 feet below the surface and is constant, furnishing an ample supply of underground water for all crops at times.

CROPS AND THEIR VALUES.

While this part of Palm Beach County has been open for occupancy only two years, many remarkable crop yields have been produced by men who have entered it. In view of the fact that there is no frost danger such truck crops as tomatoes, peppers, egg plants, lettuce, strawberries, celery, irish potatoes, beans, okra, squash, onions, cucumbers and cauliflower are planted in September and October and put on the market during the months of December, January, February, March and April when there are o similar crops being harvested anywhere in the United States. Some instances of returns to the grower from these crops are as follows: Mr. John C. Knight, Boynton, Fla., $6,000 net profit on 17 acres egg plants and tomatoes; Mr. F. E. Encill, West Palm Beach, Florida, approximately $20,000 net profit to June 1st on 23 acres sweet peppers; Mr. E. L. Reid, $4,000 net profit on tomatoes and Irish potatoes. Of course, it is understood that these instances represent top yields, but serve to show what industry and intelligence can do on these lands. All of the above mentioned growers are operating on lands in the vicinity of the lands we are offering for sale, and on the same kind of land, under the same climate conditions.

CITRUS AND OTHER FRUITS.

In addition to truck crops citrus fruit and other tropical and semi-tropical fruit grows to perfection. Palm Beach County grape fruit, according to the United States Government Agricultural statistics, brings an average of 50 cents per box more than other grown in the State of Florida. The Lainhart orange grown in the edge of Loxahatchie slough in the northern part of Palm Beach County took the first prize at the St. Louis Exposition in 1903 and is recognized as the finest orange shipped out of Florida. A five-year old grape fruit grove 4 miles west of West Palm Beach owned by Liet. Col. Windsow, retired of the U. S. Army, has from two to three boxes on the trees now, and the 10 acre grove will bring him a gross income of at least $5,000. To bring a similar grove, including cost of land, to a similar condition costs approximately $3,000.00. A 10acre grove in citrus fruit, avocado pears and mangoes will provide a permanent and ample income from fifty to a hundred years to any man who will give it reasonable attention.

HEALTH UNSURPASSED.

On account of the proximity to the ocean, the exceptional purity of the water, the health of Palm Beach County is as perfect as can be found on the face of the earth, the death rate being less than ten per thouspnd per year and would be even less but for the fact that numbers of older people have gone there from different parts of the United States to spend their declining years. There is no malaria, typhoid, or other intestinal or blood diseases, and the purity of the air and mildness of the climate prevents colds and pneumonia, or other respiratory diseases.

CULTURED PEOPLE IN COMMUNITY.

The people who are living along the east coast are characterized by a high order of intelligence and culture, having come from the best families of the north, south and east. They have schools and churches which are unsurpassed and take pride in their homes and community life. The High Schools at West Palm Beach, Boynton and Delray are associated with many of the leading colleges of the north and their graduates are admitted to these institutions without examination. The automobile roads of Palm Beach County are made of coquina rock, are level and, as a rule, straight, making automobiling a pleasure at all times. Such a road has been built from Boynton, Fla., on the Miami-Montreal boulevard to within one mile of our land, and we will compiete this road to our land in due time. The purchasers of the land in the vicinity of ours are, as a rule, young men and women from the better sections of the north, east and west, and many of them are graduates of our leading universities and colleges. They have found that 10 acres of land in this setcion means health, wealth and happiness, and have resigned positions of trust and responsibility and in many instances, paying salaries ranging from $2,000 to $5,000 per year and have gone to this section with one or two laborers, cleared up and put in cultivation from five to ten acres of land each, knowing that they will make money, have better health, and more lesisure than they could possibly hope for had they retained their positions.

PLAN OF SALE, PRICES AND TERMS.

We are offering for sale to the people of Southeast Alabama forty 5-acre tracts, reserving the remaining 448 acres for sale to people in Minnesota and for our own development. We prefer to sell this land to experienced farmers and young men who will agree to go on the land and begin development at once, and we will give purchasers of this character the preference. We will not sell this land to any person unless he or she is of good moral character and of known integrity, and we shall require the purchasers to agree to cultivate their tracts for two years at least under the supervision of a farm expert who will direct the development of a demonstration farm on the land. Also, the company will set aside one-tenth of all money received from the sale of this land to provide the capital stock of a $5,000 packing and selling agency, 60 per cent of which stock will be given to the purchasers of this land along with the deed, and all growers on this section will be obligated to have their products packed and sold by this packing house company. After seven weeks investigation the writer discovered that the large growers, meaning a man with 25 acres or more of one crop, never fail to sell their produce at the highest market price for the quality sold, but that the small grower, with five or ten acres detached, is at the mercy of the commission men, and this packing house feature will practically guarantee the sale of all produce grown on our land. The cultivation of these lands under the supervision of the farm expert will eliminate all risk due to inexperence or ignorance on the part of the grower.

PLAN FOR DEVELOPING LANDS.

Not more than one five-acre tract will be sold to a single man or woman, nor more than two five-acre tracts to a married couple it being the purpose of the company to establish a community of high-class, refined, industrious people on this section, as the officers and owners of the Minnala Farms Company will become permanent residents of the community; however, the adjoining five or ten acre tract will be reserved from sale for a period of two years and those who purchase now will be given the refusal of the tract adjoining their land at the offered price then. This will make it possible for a man to own 20 acres of this land, which is ample for all his future needs. The Company is not nearly so much interested in the sale of this land as in the development of this section along lines indicated, and reserves the right to reject any applicant who does not seem to be in accord with these plans. The prices and terms at which these lands will be sold may be had by applying to R. D. Blackshear or L. G. Biggers, President and Secretary of the Company respectively, Dothan, Ala. We will gladly furnish any additional information desired, and have at the office of the Secretary a complete surface and soil survey of each five-acre tract and photographs made by Mr. Biggers while on the land during the months of May and June. Mr. Biggers may be found at his office in the News building on North Foster street, Dothan, Alabama, from 8:30 to 12 and from 1:30 to 6 o'clock every day, beginning Saturday morning, July 18th, when the lands will be offered for sale. While every five-acre tract is actually worth from five to ten times the price at which it will be sold, all tracts are not equally desirable, and those who apply first will have first choice.

SPORTING NEWS

By Frank G Menke

The Federal League folks who are aiming to please the fans might make a master stroke if they introduced free score cards at their parks The idea of paying for score-cards at the ball games appeals to most fans in the nature of a hold-up Why should the fans be compelled to pay for score cards? Why aren't they given away free the same as are the programmes

If the Feds ever get together a real ball team in Brooklyn the Ward family's team will outdraw the Dodgers 3 to 1, no matter what the attraction the Dodgers are staging The Wards have made a hit with the Brooklyn fans They gave away some souvenirs to both sexes of the fans that attended the 4th of July games there They have reduced the prices and instead of forcing the bleacherite to sit in the uncovered seats originally designed for them the Wards have invited the 25 cent fan to sit in the covered stands where he can enjoy a game without being broiled.

A fan has just issued forth with the suggestion that sliding into the bases be eliminated from baseball. He points out that many of the game's greatest stars have been forced out of the lineup for days and weeks because of injuries received by the spikes of the opposing base runners

The suggestion, although good in one sense, cannot be adopted. To eliminate sliding from baseball would eliminate one of the best features of the game It would reduce base stealing to a minimum because a player who was barred from sliding the final eight or ten feet of his pilfering journey, wouldn't take the chance of making the base

Some years ago it was suggested that the sharp steel spikes used by ball players be replaced with little leather blocks in the soles of the shoes, on much the same style that golfers and football players use. But experiment with these showed that they are almost without value as they did not dig into the ground deep enough to aid the base runner In fact, they burrowed only the slightest fraction of an inch because of their rather blunt points, and the base runner found that instead of being aided his speed was retarded

Every time an Organized baseball player jumps to the Feds or begins flirting with the Feds, the O P magnates at once shriek about his "traiterous actions" They assert that this player owes a certain loyalty to the fans and to his owners and that he's committing a horrible crime by quitting them, or even thinking about it.

The O B magnates always lay particular stress upon the disloyalty shown to the fans by the player who jumps which is a bit of grandstand play that fans can see through without the aid of their spectacles When the magnate sees a chance to trade or sell one of his stars, he doesn't consult the fans as to whether they want the deal put through He just swaps He figures that the deal will serve his own interests And that's the way the jumping player feels

If a player can get about twice as much money for his services from one man as he is getting from another, why shouldn't he change jobs? This "loyalty to the fans" is a lot of bunk He's their hero one day—if he performs well And the very next day, if he fails to hit in a pinch, or bobbles at a crucial moment, he is hissed and hooted. No one knows this better than the ball player, and that's why the player doesn't take the fans into consideration when he is tempted by a larger offer from the Federal League.

WHEN THE VIEWPOINT CHANGES.

By Will Payne in the Saturday Evening Post.

I talked to a good many Americans who have resided in Europe for some time, and found them to a man as much committed to the militarist program as the natives are—and always from the point of view of the country in which they are domiciled. The American living in London sees the vital necessity to England in maintaining as many warships as any other two nations. Otherwise, France and Russia, or Germany and Italy might shut off its food supplies, starve it into submission in a month and walk off with all its colonies.

The American in Paris sees that a disarmed France would immediately sink to insignificance among the nations, with a role in Europe about like that of Venezuela in America. In Rome he sees that Austria would reimpose its detestable rule upon the country, or Austria and France would divide it up, if Italy relaxed its military preparedness. In Berlin he sees Russia pouring a horde of Cossacks across the frontier, unless the kaiser has a very warm welcome prepared for them, or England gobbling up German East Africa.

For each particular country there is a cogent reason why it must not set up in the competition of requirements and dreadnaughts. The people of that country believe in it, vote for it and pay for it. Probably there is no better test of a man's belief in a thing than the cheerfulness with which he will pay for it, and in that respect the kaiser's extraordinary military contribution brought out some interesting evidence.

Blue Back Speller May Be Restored

The Georgia legislature has passed an act restoring the time-honored Webster's Blue Back Speller to use in the public schools of that State, and a leading Alabama newspaper has already taken the position that when the Legislature meets in Montgomery that some action should be taken towards reinstating the Blue Back Speller in Alabama schools.

Of all spellers and near-spellers passed off on a patient public, none have been in the class of Webster's Blue Back Speller, and many persons would like to see the schools of the State follow in the footsteps of Georgia.

It has been suggested that Sam Will John, a member of the Alabama legislature, express his opinions on this subject, and if favorable to the idea, start the movement in the legislature.

SAVAGE MAY ENTER HORSES

Secretary Thomas of Fair Association Invites Owner of Famous Dan Patch to Participate in First Event.

Race horses may be entered at the first annual exhibition of the Southeast Alabama Fair Association in Dothan this Fall by M. W. Savage, proprietor of the International Stock Farm and owner of Dan Patch, 1.55, the fastest horse in the world. Secretary Fred Thomas has written Mr. Savage, inviting him to enter horses, but a reply to the letter has not been received yet.

A number of out of state companies have written the secretary requesting that they be permitted to exhibit for advertising purposes various supplies for horsemen, such as carts and other racing equipment.

S. D. McGhee, a well known citizen of Slocomb, will have an interesting exhibit of short horn cattle and swine at the fair. He says the people of his section are showing much interest in the approaching event, which is the first of the association.

The training stables at the fair grounds will be made very attractive to the eye of the horsemen. There will be 50 stalls for racing stock, 10 x 12; 75 pens for pigs, 8 x 8; 100 stalls 10 x 10 for horses, mules and cattle, besides yards, 20 x 20, for herds of cattle.

Cure for Baldness Found by Hospital Patients Rush in Boston, July 17.—Systematic treatment to cure baldness has been initiated at the Massachusetts General Hospital, and surprisingly successful results are vouched for by Dr. Bruce, head physician of the hospital.

"Our treatment includes rubbing the scalp with a Turkish towl at regular intervals," says Dr. F. Burns, of the poilial staff. "This has proved efficacious in many cases where the hair has disappeared to a great extent. To stop dandruff, shampoo the head with a clean soap once a week. A clean head is a good preventive of further infection, for the oil of the hair keeps the head dirty and makes it peculiarly susceptible to disease."

Patients seeking restoration of vanished hirsute adornment are crowding the hospital.

BREAKERS ARE STILL AHEAD IN MEXICO

Washington, July 17.—Breakers are still ahead in Mexico. Carranza will adhere to his decision to refuse amnesty despite the demands of the United States. The refusal is based on the desire of the rebels to confiscate the immense estates of the Huerta supporters.

In order to do this charges of treason must be brought and tried. Amnesty would spoil the plans. Carbajal has already opened negotiations to turn over the government to Carranza. What actions the United States will eventually take on the amnesty matter is undecided.

Huerta and Blanquett are reported today to be between Cordoba and Puerto Mexico.

Priest Finds Beach Dance Revival of Evil of Paganism

New York, July 17.—The growing fad of beach dancing in bathing suits is sharply condemned by Father John Belford, of the Church of the Nativity of Brooklyn.

"Sometimes," said the priest, "we think we have seen something so bad that there can be nothing worse. But as time goes on we find that there is progress in evil. It seems to have reached its zenith in the shameless and unspeakably vulgar dances on the beach at Brighton.

"But one degree, and that a very thin degree, removed from nudity, these creatures lock in each other's arms, whirl and sway and bend and dip upon the sand before the assembled throng.

"Has paganism revived and are we going to permit its votaries to parade its rites before thousands of defenseless men and women, not to speak of innocent children, whom it must infect with its poison? Are we not inviting divine vengeance? We certainly seem to challenge God."

SHUNNING THE EVIL VOICE.

In giving an account of how a negro was accidentally killed at Ozark, The Voice of the Negro, a paper published in Dothan, in concluding the story says:
